

TWO KILLED ON RAILWAY CROSSING

GEO. S. McCULLOCH, OTTO WENDT WERE STRUCK BY ENGINE

Ford Car in Which They were Riding Smashed Near N. P. Stockyards; Son of Wendt Jumped from Car and Barely Saved His Own Life

Inquest Over the Remains Held Tuesday Morning at the D. E. Whitney Undertaking Rooms, Jury is Empanelled

Brainerd was shocked late Monday afternoon when it was learned that two of Crow Wing County's prominent farmers had been killed in a railroad crossing accident.

George S. McCulloch, manager of the Farmers Livestock Shipping Association, and Otto Wendt, president of that organization and president of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery Association were instantly killed about 4:45 p. m., when the Ford car in which they were riding was struck by switch engine No. 1030, on a cross-which leads across the St. Paul division tracks to the stock yards at the east end of Front street. McCulloch's head was crushed, while Wendt's head was almost literally ground from his body.

Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Wendt were loading two cars of stock for the association and it is said were going down to the depot to bill them out. They got into the Wendt car, which was parked behind a warehouse near the crossing, and started out across the track.

The switch engine, pulling four cars struck the Ford and carried it down the track about fifty feet crushing the machine and killing its occupants. It is thought, instantly. W. J. Hogan, foreman of the switch crew and Wm. Coyne, a switchman, were riding on the front end of the engine and barely were given time to jump for their lives when the accident happened. A Beaumont was the engineer and E. C. Elling, the fireman. It is reported that the engine was traveling between ten and twelve miles per hour.

Mr. McCulloch's two sons were assisting in the loading of the stock cars and witnessed the fatal accident, without being able to warn their father. Neal McCulloch was standing in the door of one of the stock cars, and Lawrence was sitting in an automobile nearby. Wallace, the third son, arrived about five minutes later. One of Mr. Wendt's sons, Albert, is said to have been standing on the running board of his father's car, and jumped for his life.

Coroner D. E. Whitney was called immediately and took charge of the bodies, both of which were badly mangled, due to the fact that just before the switch engine stopped the automobile turned over, throwing its occupants on the track beneath it.

George S. McCulloch was prominent both in city and rural affairs. He always took an active interest in farming, owned a fine farm himself on the East Oak street road, and was president of the Long Lake Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of South Long Lake. He has been connected with the livestock shipping association since its inception and was instrumental in building it up to one of the strong organizations of the county.

Mr. McCulloch was widely known in lodge circles, being prominently identified with the Odd Fellows order. It was only three weeks ago that all of the branches of this lodge paid their respects to him in one of the biggest meetings ever held by that order in Brainerd. At that time Mr. McCulloch was presented with a beautiful jewel, representing the three branches of Odd Fellowship, combined with the jewels of the Past Grand Patriarch and the Past Grand Representative.

Being a member of the lodge for many years, Mr. McCulloch has an enviable record of service rarely duplicated. He has served the local lodge in all of its offices, was elected deputy grand master in 1903, grand patriarch in 1909 and grand representative in 1910 to the grand encampment held in Atlanta, Georgia. He has been a member of the official board in charge of the Odd Fellows home at Northfield for the past twelve years and has attended grand lodge every year, except one, since 1893.

Mr. McCulloch also held member-

THE VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY

The jury brought in a verdict as follows: "That George S. McCulloch and Otto Wendt came to their death as the result of a collision between a Northern Pacific switch engine and a Ford touring car, driven by Mr. Wendt, on September 24th, 1923, at about five o'clock."

The coroner's jury was composed of: A. M. Opsahl, P. B. Anderson, William Hicks, F. H. Gruenhagen, Charles Stadlbauer, A. T. Fisher.

ship for many years in the Brainerd Elks lodge, No. 615. He also carried insurance in the Modern Woodmen of America lodge. Fred Allison, who was near the scene of the accident, was a brother lodge member of Mr. McCulloch both in the Elks and the Odd Fellows.

Both Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Wendt were a power of strength in the Crow Wing County Farm Bureau. They did much in the extension of the co-operative movement among the farmers. Mr. Wendt was president and manager of the Farmers Co-operative Creamery. Mr. McCulloch was manager of the Farmers Livestock Shipping Association and a director in the creamery named.

Mr. McCulloch served on many boards of appraisal. This ranged from matters of township interest to city wide prominence, one of the latter being the board which appraised the value of the Thomas Beare lands when the waterworks system was acquiring lands. Mr. McCulloch served for years as a supervisor of the Oak Lawn township board. Formerly for many years when the county conducted a poor farm, he served as its superintendent. His farm of 120 acres or more on the East Oak street road was a well improved place and in later years was in charge of his son, Lawrence.

Mr. Wendt is one of the prominent farmers of South Long Lake. That he was interested in the progress of the farming industry is shown by the fact that he was active in the organization of the co-operative creamery and the shipping association, heading both organizations, and also took a lively interest in the County Farm Bureau.

The coroner's inquest into the cause of the death of George S. McCulloch and Otto Wendt, was held at ten o'clock Tuesday morning at the office of Coroner D. E. Whitney, County Attorney Walter F. Wieland appearing for the state.

The jury was first taken to view the remains of those killed in the accident, then to the scene of the collision near the stockyards on Front street.

Fred Allison Testifies

Returning to the coroner's office, the first witness called was Fred Allison, foreman of the scrap-dock at 1893.

HENRY FORD'S MUSCLE SHOALS PROJECT REVIEW

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON BELIEVES WHOLE PROPOSITION HAS FALLEN THROUGH

WAR DEPARTMENT SELLS GORGAS POWER PLANT TO THE ALABAMA POWER CO.

(By United Press) Washington, Sept. 25—Official Washington believes Henry Ford's Muscle Shoals project has fallen through as the result of the sale by the War Department of the Gorgas Power plant to the Alabama Power company.

The sale of the property was announced late yesterday by Secretary of War Weeks.

The Gorgas plant was included in Ford's Muscle Shoals bid. He said he would not bid for Muscle Shoals without Gorgas.

He has not replied to a request by President Coolidge and Secretary Weeks that he eliminate the Gorgas plant from his offer. The only word that has come from him on it was indirect.

Secretary Weeks yesterday got a telegram from W. V. Mayo, Ford's chief engineer on the Muscle Shoals project, expressing surprise at the sale and asserting that Ford was away from Detroit on business.

Some officials were inclined to think that Ford would fight in whatever way is possible to overturn the sale of the Gorgas plant to the power company, basing his objections on an opinion rendered months ago by Attorney-General Daugherty that the contract with the Alabama Power company giving it the exclusive option to purchase the plant, was given without due authority. This contract has been under fire for a long time.

In announcing the sale late yesterday for $3,472,487, Weeks set forth the existence of the contract, stating that under it the government was powerless to do anything but sell to the power company or scrap its plant and remove it from the power company's land, on which it was erected.

Weeks has always been opposed to the Ford offer. He and Mr. Coolidge have determined, however, to make some final settlement of the question without further delay. Ford now must either renew his whole bid without the Gorgas plant, or drop the whole project, officials here believe.

GERMAN STATE PREMIERS CONCUR IN NATIONAL STAND

(By United Press) Berlin, Sept. 25. — The German state premiers, in their conference with Chancellor Stresemann today, fully approved the decision of the government to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr without further conditions.

The official statement issued after the conference between Stresemann and the premiers said:

"Complete agreement was reached that passive resistance, for internal, political, and above all, financial reasons, must be broken off."

Approval of the state premiers followed that of the Rhine and Ruhr organizations given at their conferences with the chancellor yesterday.

This was interpreted as the final step before Stresemann's public announcement, which will be Germany's acknowledgement to the world that she has lost "the war after the war" and virtually throws herself on the mercy of the Allies.

DEAD MAN IS FOUND IN BOX CAR

FORMER RESIDENT OF ST. CLOUD AND MINNEAPOLIS FOUND IN FARGO YARD

(By United Press) Fargo, N. D., Sept. 25.—The body of a man believed to be Arnold Vossion of Watkins, Meeker county, former resident of Minneapolis and St. Cloud, was found in a box car on the Northern Pacific tracks near here early today.

The man shot himself according to police.

He attempted to destroy all means of identification before ending his life. An unfinished letter addressed to "Katie" and mentioning "Dora" said: "They will find no address on me."

Distant relatives in Watkins said they had a son-in-law, Emil Schroeder, at Salem, N. D., but there is no town of that name. Inquiry at New Salem, N. D., failed to reveal any information regarding him.

POLITICAL HORIZON IS CLOUDING UP FOR THE REPUBLICANS

NEW DEVELOPMENTS INDICATE THAT PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WILL HAVE OPPOSITION

HIRAM JOHNSON, GIFFORD PINCHOT ALSO HAVE EYES ON THE PRESIDENCY

By LAWRENCE MARTIN (Copyright 1923 by United Press)

Washington, Sept. 25.—Two developments of the past 24 hours have clouded the political horizon with new indications that President Coolidge will not escape rivalry at the Republican national convention next year.

These developments were:

1. A statement issued by Senator Hiram Johnson of California in Los Angeles.

2. Announcement of a speaking tour by Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Johnson's statement, issued to the people of his state, was primarily for home consumption, but it contained two significant words. They were "my candidacy." Johnson, speaking on the California presidential primary, said:

"We intend in the primary, and this is apart from my candidacy, to elect a progressive Republican delegation," etc.

To politicians here that at once assumed the significance of an announcement by Johnson that he will be a candidate.

Johnson is out in California to test his strength.

If he can beat the anti-Johnsonites there, he will go to the Republican national convention determined to be nominated himself, or exact from party leaders a form of recognition of his place in the party, which will put him in a strategic position for 1928.

Just as Johnson is going to his home folks in California, for endorsement, Pinchot, by his announcement, made it clear that he is going to the people of Pennsylvania for an endorsement. He will speak the entire month of October, speaking in and out of Pennsylvania, the announcement said.

Two conclusions were drawn from this by political observers.

1. That Pinchot intends, by a direct appeal to the people, to regain whatever prestige he lost in the recent statewide primary when some Pinchot men were defeated by organization candidates.

2. That he intends to keep himself in the national arena by means of speeches in Washington, New York and elsewhere.

He has a considerable task because the old party organizations which he beat in the recent gubernatorial campaign are showing signs of life. If he is not to be relegated to obscurity after a brilliant flash in the pan he must either establish himself as the leader in Pennsylvania or step out into a broader field. His forthcoming speeches will be scanned with interest by organization leaders for indications of his 1924 plans.

Modification of the Volstead Act Sought

(By United Press) Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—Modification of the Volstead Act is the object of the Moderation League of Minnesota, organized last night.

The Minnesota league will be patterned after the league in Manitoba. One hundred thousand members will be sought. Eighteen states are reported to be forming similar bodies.

Dr. Edward Kiaviness, Monticello, was named president of the league. Twin City men filled other offices.

BULGARIA RECRUITING TO QUELL AGRARIAN COMMUNIST UPRISING

Despite the severe censorship which prevails in Sofia, advices indicate the situation of the Zankoff government is endangered.

HOSTILE VOTE OF PERSIA PREVENTS FULL LEAGUE ACTION

(By United Press) Geneva, Sept. 25. — The hostile vote of Persia today prevented unanimous adoption of the Canadian interpretation of Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant, which would remove all suspicion that the league is a "separate state."

The vote on the Canadian proposal, which was brought before the session of the League Assembly, was 29 for and one against, and 13 abstentions.

Proponents of the measure immediately conferred with the Persian delegates, who announced they would telegraph Tehran for instructions on their vote which prevented adoption of the Canadian interpretation.

COOLIDGES HEAR TRIBUTE TO HARDING

Washington, Sept. 25.—President and Mrs. Coolidge attended memorial services Sunday for Warren G. Harding at Calvary Baptist church, where the late chief executive worshipped.

There they heard Rev. W. S. Abernethy, pastor, formerly of Minneapolis, say it was not God's will that Mr. Harding should die.

"Some people," said the minister, "have said that it was God's will that President Harding should not live. But I do not believe that."

"Sharp gibes and heartless criticisms wounded his kindly heart and contributed to his death. And then there were the burdens we lay upon our presidents. These were human blunders. Afterward we sent only flowers. We should mend our ways."

The minister was abroad at the time of the president's death, and the memorial service at Calvary church was delayed until Sunday.

Turkey Asks U. S. to Withdraw Warships

London, Sept. 25.—An Exchange telegraph dispatch from Constantinople quotes an Ankara message as stating that the Turkish government has decided to press for the withdrawal from the straits of the flotilla of American torpedoboats stationed at Constantinople and that Adnan Bey, the nationalist representative on Constantinople, has made representation to the United States high commissioner there.

Marks Bring Less Than Their Paper Value

New York, Sept. 25.—One million German marks today were worth 7-10 of 1 cent as currency in New York, but 1,000,000 of the old one mark notes sold as waste paper here would bring about $4. Thousands of these old mark notes still are being held in this country as souvenirs, but they are valueless as to purchasing power.

ABUSE BY PATROLMAN WINS MAN'S RELEASE

Chicago, Sept. 25.—L. V. Colvin was freed from a speeding charge because Michael O'Shea, policeman, used "rough" language in arresting him. "Some policemen think a citizen has no rights," said Judge Chas. F. McKinley. "A citizen has a right to respectful treatment even though he may be a law violator. Hard boiled talk has no place in making an arrest."

WISH TO IMPEACH GOV. WALTON OF OKLAHOMA

W. D. McBEE, LEADER OF OPPOSITION, SAYS 70 MEMBERS WILL ASSEMBLE

AT SAME TIME WALTON HAS ORDERED ALL MILITIA TO BE IN READINESS

(By United Press)

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 25.—Members of the Oklahoma legislature leading in the movement to start impeachment proceedings against Governor J. C. Walton held steadfastly to their determination to meet Wednesday noon despite the executive's orders to troops to "shoot to kill" if necessary to prevent the session.

The governor issued instructions to Adjt.-Gen. Markham to stop the legislature from meeting "at any time and any place in Oklahoma" and use of all military forces of Oklahoma needed to carry out the order was given.

At the same time Governor Walton commanded all citizen soldiers in the state between the ages of 21 and 45 to hold themselves in readiness for service in the open warfare between the visible government and the invisible empire.

"At least 70 members of the legislature will be here tomorrow and we will make every effort to meet peacefully," said W. D. McBee, chief agitator for the impeachment of the governor.

The citizen soldiers were instructed to be in readiness with such arms as "they might possess or can obtain."

These instructions, however, were practically superfluous, because every man in Oklahoma who has any kind of gun or other weapon has placed it in readiness.

Hip pockets have a bulge, but none are suspicious, for everyone knows that a six-shooter dangles there. Machine guns command strategic points in the city from hotels to the capitol. Guardsmen patrol the streets. Youthful guards with guns of heavy army calibre displayed were seen on all sides as members of the legislature began to arrive for the special meeting. Anti-Walton forces claimed there were 70 members of the lower house in the city.

Governor Walton, in his final drastic orders forbidding a meeting, stated it was a "battle on the invisible empire, or the Ku Klux Klan," and that "the Klan is an enemy of the sovereign state of Oklahoma."

He declared evidence presented to the military court showed it had "taken over political government in many cities and counties, and as an organization has murdered, whipped, beaten, flogged and outraged many citizens."

Great activity was apparent among troops enforcing martial law here throughout the day. Heavy trucks roared through the streets carrying heavy loads of uniformed men. All movements of the military were kept secret at headquarters.

WALTON HAS HIS OWN PUBLICATION

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 25.—The "Record" established by Governor J. C. Walton to publish news of his fight with the Ku Klux Klan, appeared here today. Aldrich Blake, executive counsellor to the governor, is editor. The first edition, a four-page seven column folder, will be scattered broadcast throughout the state. It carries extracts from testimony obtained by the military investigation commission.

POLITICAL HORIZON IS CLOUDING UP FOR THE REPUBLICANS

NEW DEVELOPMENTS INDICATE THAT PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WILL HAVE OPPOSITION

HIRAM JOHNSON, GIFFORD PINCHOT ALSO HAVE EYES ON THE PRESIDENCY

By LAWRENCE MARTIN (Copyright 1923 by United Press)

Washington, Sept. 25.—Two developments of the past 24 hours have clouded the political horizon with new indications that President Coolidge will not escape rivalry at the Republican national convention next year.

These developments were:

1. A statement issued by Senator Hiram Johnson of California in Los Angeles.

2. Announcement of a speaking tour by Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Johnson's statement, issued to the people of his state, was primarily for home consumption, but it contained two significant words. They were "my candidacy." Johnson, speaking on the California presidential primary, said:

"We intend in the primary, and this is apart from my candidacy, to elect a progressive Republican delegation," etc.

To politicians here that at once assumed the significance of an announcement by Johnson that he will be a candidate.

Johnson is out in California to test his strength.

If he can beat the anti-Johnsonites there, he will go to the Republican national convention determined to be nominated himself, or exact from party leaders a form of recognition of his place in the party, which will put him in a strategic position for 1928.

Just as Johnson is going to his home folks in California, for endorsement, Pinchot, by his announcement, made it clear that he is going to the people of Pennsylvania for an endorsement. He will speak the entire month of October, speaking in and out of Pennsylvania, the announcement said.

Two conclusions were drawn from this by political observers.

1. That Pinchot intends, by a direct appeal to the people, to regain whatever prestige he lost in the recent statewide primary when some Pinchot men were defeated by organization candidates.

2. That he intends to keep himself in the national arena by means of speeches in Washington, New York and elsewhere.

He has a considerable task because the old party organizations which he beat in the recent gubernatorial campaign are showing signs of life. If he is not to be relegated to obscurity after a brilliant flash in the pan, he must either establish himself as the leader in Pennsylvania or step out into a broader field. His forthcoming speeches will be scanned with interest by organization leaders for indications of his 1924 plans.

Modification of the Volstead Act Sought

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—Modification of the Volstead Act is the object of the Moderation League of Minnesota, organized last night.

The Minnesota league will be patterned after the league in Manitoba. One hundred thousand members will be sought. Eighteen states are reported to be forming similar bodies.

Dr. Edward Klavness, Monticello, was named president of the league. Twin City men filled other offices.

BULGARIA RECRUITING TO QUELL AGRARIAN COMMUNIST UPRISING

(By United Press)
Athens, Sept. 25.—The Bulgarian government is recruiting 10,000 militiamen to aid in quelling the Agrarian-Communist rebellion, messages from Sofia said today.

Despite the severe censorship which prevails in Sofia, advices indicate the situation of the Zankoff government is endangered.

HOSTILE VOTE OF PERSIA PREVENTS FULL LEAGUE ACTION

(By United Press)

Geneva, Sept. 25.—The hostile vote of Persia today prevented unanimous adoption of the Canadian interpretation of Article 10 of the League of Nations covenant, which would remove all suspicion that the league is a "separate state."

The vote on the Canadian proposal, which was brought before the session of the League Assembly, was 29 for and one against, and 13 abstentions.

Proponents of the measure immediately conferred with the Persian delegates, who announced they would telegraph Tehran for instructions on their vote which prevented adoption of the Canadian interpretation.

COOLIDGES HEAR TRIBUTE TO HARDING

Washington, Sept. 25.—President and Mrs. Coolidge attended memorial services Sunday for Warren G. Harding at Calvary Baptist church, where the late chief executive worshipped. There they heard Rev. W. S. Abernethy, pastor, formerly of Minneapolis, say it was not God's will that Mr. Harding should die.

"Some people," said the minister, "have said that it was God's will that President Harding should not live. But I do not believe that."

"Sharp gibes and heartless criticisms wounded his kindly heart and contributed to his death. And then there were the burdens we lay upon our presidents. These were human blunders. Afterward we sent only flowers. We should mend our ways."

The minister was abroad at the time of the president's death, and the memorial service at Calvary church was delayed until Sunday.

Turkey Asks U. S. to Withdraw Warships

London, Sept. 25.—An Exchange telegraph dispatch from Constantinople quotes an Ankara message as stating that the Turkish government has decided to press for the withdrawal from the straits of the flotilla of American torpedoboats stationed at Constantinople and that Adnan Bey, the nationalist representative on Constantinople, has made representation to the United States high commissioner there.

Marks Bring Less Than Their Paper Value

New York, Sept. 25.—One million German marks today were worth 7-10 of 1 cent as currency in New York, but 1,000,000 of the old one mark notes sold as waste paper here would bring about $4. Thousands of these old mark notes still are being held in this country as souvenirs, but they are valueless as to purchasing power.

ABUSE BY PATROLMAN WINS MAN'S RELEASE

Chicago, Sept. 25.—L. V. Colvin was freed from a speeding charge because Michael O'Shea, policeman, used "rough" language in arresting him. "Some policemen think a citizen has no rights," said Judge Chas. F. McKimley. "A citizen has a right to respectful treatment even though he may be a law violator. Hard boiled talk has no place in making an arrest."

WISH TO IMPEACH GOV. WALTON OF OKLAHOMA

W. D. McBEE, LEADER OF OPPOSITION, SAYS 70 MEMBERS WILL ASSEMBLE

AT SAME TIME WALTON HAS ORDERED ALL MILITIA TO BE IN READINESS

(By United Press)

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 25.—Members of the Oklahoma legislature leading in the movement to start impeachment proceedings against Governor J. C. Walton held steadfastly to their determination to meet Wednesday noon despite the executive's orders to troops to "shoot to kill" if necessary to prevent the session.

The governor issued instructions to Adj.-Gen. Markham to stop the legislature from meeting "at any time and any place in Oklahoma" and use of all military forces of Oklahoma needed to carry out the order was given.

At the same time Governor Walton commanded all citizen soldiers in the state between the ages of 21 and 45 to hold themselves in readiness for service in the open warfare between the visible government and the invisible empire.

"At least 70 members of the legislature will be here tomorrow and we will make every effort to meet peacefully," said W. D. McBee, chief agitator for the impeachment of the governor.

The citizen soldiers were instructed to be in readiness with such arms as "they might possess or can obtain."

These instructions, however, were practically superfluous, because every man in Oklahoma who has any kind of gun or other weapon has placed it in readiness.

Hip pockets have a bulge, but none are suspicious, for everyone knows that a six-shooter dangles there. Machine guns command strategic points in the city from hotels to the capitol. Guardsmen patrol the streets. Youthful guards with guns of heavy army calibre displayed were seen on all sides as members of the legislature began to arrive for the special meeting.

Anti-Walton forces claimed there were 70 members of the lower house in the city.

Governor Walton, in his final drastic orders forbidding a meeting, stated it was a "battle on the invisible empire, or the Ku Klux Klan," and that "the Klan is an enemy of the sovereign state of Oklahoma."

He declared evidence presented to the military court showed it had "taken over political government in many cities and counties, and as an organization has murdered, whipped, beaten, flogged and outraged many citizens."

Great activity was apparent among troops enforcing martial law here throughout the day. Heavy trucks roared through the streets carrying heavy loads of uniformed men. All movements of the military were kept secret at headquarters.

WALTON HAS HIS OWN PUBLICATION

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 25.—The "Record" established by Governor J. C. Walton to publish news of his fight with the Ku Klux Klan, appeared here today. Aldrich Blake, executive counsellor to the governor, is editor. The first edition, a four-page seven column folder, will be scattered broadcast throughout the state. It carries extracts from testimony obtained by the military investigation commission.

Combined N. Y. Papers To Be Made Larger

New York, Sept. 25.—Publishers' association officials arranged last night to increase the size of New York's combined morning newspaper to 16 pages today, as the striking pressmen remained adamant and George L. Berry, president of the International union, asserted union pressmen from other cities were arriving and on their way here in a "hearty response" to his appeal for men to fill the vacancies.

It was expected that editorials and increased department store advertising would appear today after a limited in the combined papers of this morning and afternoon.

INSANITY AND FANCIED GRIEVANCE CAUSES A TRAGEDY

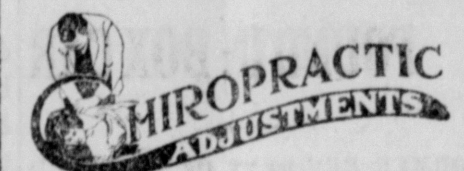

(By United Press)
Madrid, Iowa, Sept. 25.—Tim Chandler, 35, a farmer, today shot and killed Mrs. William McLean, sister, wounded her two daughters and then turned the gun on himself as he pursued another daughter with the intention of killing her.

Chandler died almost instantly just before his wife reached his side. Insanity and a fancied grievance caused the shooting, authorities said.

OLD MAN FOUND WITH BILLS LINING HIS VARIED CLOTHES

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Sept. 25.—Five, ten and twenty dollar bills lined the inside of Joseph Zowciack's clothing when police took him in tow last night. He was found asleep under the Franklin avenue river bridge. Zowciack wore three pairs of trousers, two overall suits, and three shirts, and inside this covering police found $375.

He claimed at first to be 108 years old. Finally he admitted he was a youth of 83. He came here from LaCrosse seeking work, he said.

LITTLE FALLS WATER SYSTEM

Valuation of $36,000 Placed on Same by Commission Appointed by District Court

CARL ZAPFEE ON COMMISSION

Water Power Company First Asked
$120,000 for System, Later Would Have Accepted $110,000

(Little Falls Daily Transcript)

The value of the present water distributing system in the city of Little Falls, including all physical property, such as valves, hydrants, meters, water mains, etc., has been placed at $36,000 by the commission appointed last spring by District Court Judge J. A. Roeser to hear all testimony concerning this matter.

The commission was named in connection with condemnation proceedings brought by the city of Little Falls against the water distributing system of the Little Falls Water Power company. The city and the company have been negotiating for the past two or three years over the purchase of the system by the former, since the company did not care to renew its franchise which expired several years ago. No agreement as to price could be arrived at, however.

It is said that the Water Power company, at the time negotiations were started, asked $120,000 for the system but would have accepted $10,000 less had the deal been closed before April 1, 1922. During the hearing held by the commission the company placed the value of its plant at $62,641 and asked $17,375 intangible value as a going concern, making a total of $80,016. The commission places the value of the plant at $36,000 and allows nothing for the intangible value.

Before the condemnation action was taken the city council offered the company $25,000 for the system as a basis for arriving at an agreement but no response was made to the offer.

Judge Roeser in district court named Oscar Claussen and J. J. Shannon of St. Paul and Carl Zapffe of Brainerd as the commissioners to hear the testimony offered by both the city and the Water Power company regarding the value of the system. These commissioners met at various times throughout the summer and in addition to receiving oral testimony they personally examined mains at different places about the city and made actual tests of the system.

"I am very much pleased with the award made by the commission," said City Attorney Vernon, who had charge of the proceedings for the city. "This is approximately the sum the city was willing to pay for the plant before any legal action was started."

Mayor Bergheim has called a special meeting of the city council to be held next Tuesday evening at which time the statement of the commission will be officially presented to the council and the mayor will offer his recommendations concerning it.

"ROBIN HOOD" COMING

Douglas Fairbanks to Star in Great
Motion Picture at New Park
Oct. 1, 2, 3, and 4

"Robin Hood," starring Douglas Fairbanks in one of the greatest motion pictures, is coming to the New Park Theatre October 1, 2, 3 and 4.

An idea of the magnitude of Douglas Fairbanks' most ambitious undertaking involving the production of this stupendous cinema drama may be had from the following statistics. Over twenty thousand persons were employed in the various branches of industry to make this production.

The royal banquet room in the castle is the largest room in the world, being larger even than the concourse of the Pennsylvania Terminal Station in New York City. More than ten thousand people appear in various scenes.

Twenty-two experts delved and studied in the necessary research work for accurate designing of the colossal sets. Hundreds of workmen labored three months to build the sets. One million feet, or approximately thirty-five carloads of lumber, were used in their construction. Thirty tons or about one carload of nails were consumed in erecting the sets.

Two hundred and fifty tons of material went into the castle walls. More than fifteen acres of studio property were used for the principal sets.

The King's castle alone covers two and one-half acres and is three hundred and ten feet in height. The exterior is six hundred and twenty

Back to Petticoats Again; So Rules Milady America

FEMININE America has issued her dictum. The petticoat rules again. No more abbreviated skirt which more than half reveals and discloses. No more ankle-length dress to supplement the work of the street cleaning bureau.

Eight inches above the pavement and a petticoat for safety. So announced sensible Milady America, or words to that effect.

Anyhow, that is the way they will wear them this fall. Not high! Not low! Just medium length with a petticoat beneath.

A blow, that, to Paris and Main Street. Paris declared for the sweeping skirt and lost her strange hold on American fashion. Main Street undertook a defense of the ballet-length type and ridicule overwhelmed her. She is out in the alley today trying to pull the scanty length down over her exposed knees.

No more bloomers to clamp an inch—or maybe less—above the edge of an abbreviated skirt. "Darn the unmentionables; we accept no substitutes," was the rallying cry which met every designer who offered a compromise. Milady America stuck to her guns, or her skirt length, and won. It takes but a glance in the knitting mills to prove it.

A booming season this—for petticoats. Not the flannel ones mother wore. Passes those, yea, these many years. Cotton, or cotton and worsted, or all worsted go into milady's petticoat today.

The petticoat rule! Does it lead to petticoat rule? Well, have it that way if you will. What is an article and an "s" between friends?

eight minutes after court reconvened today.

The presiding judge announced that he was prepared to hear arguments on a new motion by Ward's attorneys for dismissal of the first degree murder indictment.

Motion for Dismissal Denied

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Motion for dismissal of the first degree murder charge against Walter S. Ward, alleged to have slain Clarence Peters, was denied today by Justice Robert F. Wagner. The motion was made after the state rested its case shortly after court convened today.

MARION, OHIO, STAR BECOMES INDEPENDENT

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 25.—The Marion Star, owned by President Harding until before his Alaska trip, hereafter will be an independent newspaper, its publishers announced today.

The Marion Star was purchased by Mr. Harding after his republicanism had got him discharged from the Marion Tribune—he insisted on wearing a Blaine hat on the job—and since the 80's has been one of the strong republican papers of Ohio. Roy D. Moore and L. B. Brush, who purchased the paper from Mr. Harding, and this morning contemporary, the Marion Tribune, made today's announcement in conjunction with notice that they had suspended publication of the Tribune.

ALBERT LEA NINE WINS LAST OF TITLE SERIES

Albert Lea, Minn., Sept. 25.—Albert Lea has clinched the pennant of the Southern Minnesota Baseball league by defeating Faribault, 9 to 4.

The game was featured by free hitting on the part of both teams, with considerable ragged ball in between. The game was the third of the series played to determine the southern Minnesota baseball title.

Inability to get their hits at the proper time accounted for Faribault's low score. Albert Lea, on the other hand, bunched their hits to the best advantage.

The muslin diffusing system—used to diffuse light—is bigger than the combined "big tops" of the world's greatest circus enterprise.

Twenty thousand yards of heavy velvets and rich cloth material were used in making the costumes worn by principals, players and extras.

Every weapon carried in the production was made entirely by hand. Thousands of spears, swords, shields and daggers had to be especially made.

Saddles and trappings for the horses were all hand-made and hand-sewed.

In making an exact duplicate of the standard used by King Richard I in his Crusade to the Holy Land, 300 pounds of iron were necessary.

The entire stock of three tanneries was taken over for the shoes used by the players.

FORMER BRAINERD PASTOR WINS RECOGNITION

REV. J. E. CADWELL who was for some time pastor of People's Congregational church, Northeast Brainerd, has won recognition through his activities in Dairy Calf club work. Mr. Cadwell has expressed the belief that if boys become interested in the farm activities in which their parents are engaged they will be more likely to appreciate the industry of their parents and more inclined to remain on the farm when they have reached the age in which they must decide where they will spend their lives.

One of the boys of the Calf club organized by Mr. Cadwell has won a trip to Chicago, at the expense of the Minneapolis Journal, where he will attend the Second Annual International conference of Boys and Girls clubs.

This work with the boys of the communities in which Mr. Cadwell preaches is likely to do a great deal in developing a real community spirit among the young people and it will help to create a real interest in the practical affairs of every day life on the farm. It is another indication of the wider scope of church activities which are no longer confined to personal interests but look to the community and attempt to further its best interests. It is another illustration of what the poet had in mind when he said that "Poetry is the achievement of a synthesis between hyacinths and biscuits." It proves that Mr. Cadwell sees that the church depends upon the farm and the farm's success. The church may bring to life its inspiration, its poetry and its idealism but it is dependent upon the interest of the people for its own existence. Man does not live by bread alone but bread is essential to life in which the spiritual and the material are closely related, in which they are, in fact, one.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING HAS PROVED VALUE

THE strike of the New York pressmen, which prevented the newspaper offices from getting out more than a few sheets of news and limited advertising, had a marked effect upon the business of New York city. The managers of the business houses were startled by the lack of buyers and were impressed by the difference in the volume of their business which resulted through their inability to tell the public about their wares.

It is possible that many business men in New York city wondered just how effective their newspaper advertising was, and at times they may have thought that if they were to discontinue it the result would not be very noticeable. They kept it up because in the competitive struggle of such a city there must be no let up and an experiment might prove costly.

The lesson they have learned will be of value to them. The individual advertiser has learned that he gets his business because of the cumulative appeal that comes through many advertising. One advertiser might drop out without noticing such a serious effect upon his business as was noticed when all the advertisers were silent. Because of this it will be impressed upon the advertisers in New York city that they are gaining through advertising though they may not have used newspaper ink as freely as they ought to have used it, and they will add more advertising because, working with others who advertise, they are gaining by the cumulative effect of advertising that brings buyers down town.

GERMANY YIELDS TO THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT

POINCARÉ has won—won after a hard fight in which his policy has been much criticised. It remains to be seen what he has won other than the surrender of Germany. If the present government of Germany is strong enough to defend itself against the combined attacks of monarchists and communists and to restore the financial stability of Germany so that reparations may be paid to the allied nations, then the critic has been vindicated by developments. If, on the other hand, the combined attacks of monarchists and communists overthrow the present government, and the country loses a government that has the semblance of a government of the people, and in the resultant disorder is unable to meet the reparations, the policy of Poincaré, even though it has succeeded in crushing Germany, will be found to have failed unless its intent was to crush Germany and leave her in a helpless condition. The people of other nations will hope that the French policy will change when Germany agrees to meet the allied demands and that from then on the nations of Europe will seek to forget the war of 1914 to 1918 in the peace of 1923. The hatchet must be buried if the world is to know prosperity and peace, and until it is there is no real hope for Europe. Perhaps, this will be realized, and the French, who have tenaciously clung to their policy, may be prepared to follow another one now that their ancient enemy has been brought to time. The world will hope so.

BABE RUTH is the most valuable player in the American League. The judges in every American League city say so. He hasn't swatted them so far this season but he has hit them oftener and it's the hits that are important. A single with a man on third is as valuable as a home run when the bases are empty.

MINNEAPOLIS will not allow even married couples to spoon in the parks and a judge has fined a married couple for doing so. The judge is probably right, for they were setting an example for young people to follow. In London, England, that is what the parks are for—so the young people think.

Forest Laws From Normans.

The forest laws were a series of severe enactments of William the Conqueror (1066-1087) relating to the royal forests and the preservation of the game therein. From these Norman enactments are derived the game laws of modern days. The forest laws however, were not reduced to a regular code until the granting of the forest charter of 1217. In that charter the penalties for killing game were greatly modified. No man could be deprived of his life for killing a deer, the penalty being restricted to a fine or imprisonment for a year and a day.

Looking Far Ahead.

Mr. Johnson invariably made long calculations about anything important that happened in his life. He became engaged, and his marriage was announced to take place on a Thursday. One day he informed his future mother-in-law that it must be celebrated on a Wednesday. "Why?" she demanded in surprise. "I have been making a calculation," he said, "and I find that my silver wedding would take place on a Friday. That would never do, as it is the evening on which my lodge meets."

This Picture Wins First Prize in Northwest Children's Contest

This picture of little Louise May Pankey, of Selah, Washington, wins a prize of one hundred dollars, because it ranked highest among three thousand amateur photographs submitted in a Northern Pacific Railway contest.

So many fine photographs of healthy, happy children outdoors in the Pacific Northwest were entered in the contest that the judges had a hard time picking the winner. But little Louise May and her friend the fawn made such an appealing picture that they won the award for the child's mother, Mrs. Geo. Pankey, who took the picture.

Some of the selected contest photos will be used in advertising the Pacific Northwest as a wonderful place in which to live. Amateur photographers from Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon submitted pictures for the Northern Pacific prize.

Final Showings Tonight of "The Ne'er-do-Well"

The final showings of Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "The Ne'er-do-Well," the famous Rex Beach novel will take place at the Lyceum theatre tonight. Cash prizes are given the players.

Forgets Birthday; Nearly Loses His Wife

Did you ever forget your wife's birthday? George Coburn did, in the Paramount picture, "The Silent Partner," which comes to the New Park Theatre Wednesday for two days, and it almost cost him his wife.

In the story, Coburn has become a stock speculator, against the wishes of his wife, who does not want their financial security jeopardized. He is as agreeable as ever, but so wrapped in complex gambling operations, he has neglected her.

His former employer is in love with Mrs. Coburn, and takes special pains to remember the anniversary, as it seems to her everyone else does. When George does remember, and telephones home, he is too late, and his wife has accepted an invitation to luncheon with the employer, which comes in a bouquet of American Beauties.

FORMER BRAINERD PASTOR WINS RECOGNITION

REV. J. E. CADWELL who was for some time pastor of People's Congregational church, Northeast Brainerd, has won recognition through his activities in Dairy Calf club work. Mr. Cadwell has expressed the belief that if boys become interested in the farm activities in which their parents are engaged they will be more likely to appreciate the industry of their parents and more inclined to remain on the farm when they have reached the age in which they must decide where they will spend their lives.

One of the boys of the Calf club organized by Mr. Cadwell has won a trip to Chicago, at the expense of the Minneapolis Journal, where he will attend the Second Annual International conference of Boys and Girls clubs.

This work with the boys of the communities in which Mr. Cadwell preaches is likely to do a great deal in developing a real community spirit among the young people and it will help to create a real interest in the practical affairs of every day life on the farm. It is another indication of the wider scope of church activities which are no longer confined to personal interests but look to the community and attempt to further its best interests. It is another illustration of what the poet had in mind when he said that "Poetry is the achievement of a synthesis between hyacinths and biscuits." It proves that Mr. Cadwell sees that the church depends upon the farm and the farm's success. The church may bring to life its inspiration, its poetry and its idealism but it is dependent upon the interest of the people for its own existence. Man does not live by bread alone but bread is essential to life in which the spiritual and the material are closely related, in which they are, in fact, one.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING HAS PROVED VALUE

THE strike of the New York pressmen, which prevented the newspaper offices from getting out more than a few sheets of news and limited advertising, had a marked effect upon the business of New York city. The managers of the business houses were startled by the lack of buyers and were impressed by the difference in the volume of their business which resulted through their inability to tell the public about their wares.

It is possible that many business men in New York city wondered just how effective their newspaper advertising was, and at times they may have thought that if they were to discontinue it the result would not be very noticeable. They kept it up because in the competitive struggle of such a city there must be no let up and an experiment might prove costly.

The lesson they have learned will be of value to them. The individual advertiser has learned that he gets his business because of the cumulative appeal that comes through many advertising. One advertiser might drop out without noticing such a serious effect upon his business as was noticed when all the advertisers were silent. Because of this it will be impressed upon the advertisers in New York city that they are gaining through advertising though they may not have used newspaper ink as freely as they ought to have used it, and they will add more advertising because, working with others who advertise, they are gaining by the cumulative effect of advertising that brings buyers down town.

GERMANY YIELDS TO THE FRENCH GOVERNMENT

POINCARÉ has won—won after a hard fight in which his policy has been much criticised. It remains to be seen what he has won other than the surrender of Germany. If the present government of Germany is strong enough to defend itself against the combined attacks of monarchists and communists and to restore the financial stability of Germany so that reparations may be paid to the allied nations, then the critic has been vindicated by developments. If, on the other hand, the combined attacks of monarchists and communists overthrow the present government, and the country loses a government that has the semblance of a government of the people, and in the resultant disorder is unable to meet the reparations, the policy of Poincaré, even though it has succeeded in crushing Germany, will be found to have failed unless its intent was to crush Germany and leave her in a helpless condition. The people of other nations will hope that the French policy will change when Germany agrees to meet the allied demands and that from then on the nations of Europe will seek to forget the war of 1914 to 1918 in the peace of 1923. The hatchet must be buried if the world is to know prosperity and peace, and until it is there is no real hope for Europe. BRAINERD MEN IN TACOMA SHOPS

Tacoma Sunday Ledger of September 16 Carries Illustrated Article on N. P. Shops

VAST ARMY—TACOMA WORKERS

Special Reference Made to Supt. H. A. Lyddon and H. M. Curry, General Mechanical Supt.

The Sunday, Sept. 16, issue of the Tacoma Ledger carries an illustrated article on the Northern Pacific railway shops in that city. The article says in part:

"Riveting guns rattle, giant trip-hammers pound, derricks protest, saws rip through lumber, paint swishes from brush and paint gun to wood and steel; hammers strike, bells ring, engines puff."

"Giant locomotives are dismantled and rebuilt, worn passenger coaches renewed, freight and refrigerator cars transformed from derelicts into new equipment."

"The human element sticks out everywhere. Almost without exception every major and minor department head witnessed 'his' transcontinental transportation system grow from the time it was a stub railroad in the days of fighting Indians and roving buffalo until it became one of the most important railroads in America."

Shop Superintendent H. A. Lyddon. "Shop Superintendent H. A. Lyddon, now in England, is an example. Forty years ago he was a mechanic's apprentice in England. The lure of America seized him. He came to the land of promise, and obtained a position as mechanic with the Northern Pacific, then a little road running a few miles out of St. Paul, Minn. Since that time he has worked his way from the ranks to one of the two most important subordinate mechanical positions on one of America's greatest transportation systems."

H. M. Curry. "General Locomotive Foreman John Metzger pointed out a minute, obsolete locomotive, No. 680—little more, it seems, than a boiler on wheels. No. 680, he says, was the engine of H. M. Curry, now general mechanical superintendent, Curry, who holds one of the biggest mechanical positions in America, 45 years ago was an apprentice. Ambitious, capable, he became a mechanic, then a fireman and in 1883 was made the proud pilot of one of the first engines purchased by the Northern Pacific. His run was between St. Paul and Brainerd, Minn., a distance of 140 miles."

"Since then Curry has been promoted to road foreman, then master mechanic, general master mechanic, mechanical superintendent and now to general mechanical superintendent. Through the years he has insisted that his '680' be saved from the scrap heap. His every visit to Tacoma is marked with a little visit and 'talk' with 'old-680' as she rests on the rails beside the shops."

A paragraph devoted to the store department mentions H. W. Kitchin, also formerly of Brainerd, who is Reclaiming Plant Foreman.

TWO KILLED ON RAILWAY CROSSING

the shops. Mr. Allison stated that he had just come from the shops and had stopped at the stockyards to talk to Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Wendt. He testified that they were loading a car of sheep and were in a hurry to get down to the freight office and bill out the car before the office closed at five o'clock.

He stated that he went north a short distance to talk to Lawrence McCulloch, who was sitting in his automobile, and George McCulloch and Otto Wendt got into the latter's Ford and started for downtown. Mr. Allison said that he had his back to the railroad track, but that Lawrence McCulloch yelled to his father, and Allison then turned around as the switch engine was within six feet of the crossing over which the automobile was going.

Car Slid 50 Feet

Mr. Allison said that he saw the engine hit the Ford, about in the middle of the car and slid it about fifty feet before the Ford tipped over and crumpled. He did not see the men thrown out of the car, but saw them lying on the track as he ran by them to go to the livery barn near by to telephone for help. Both bodies, he said, were badly mutilated.

Lawrence McCulloch's Statement. Lawrence McCulloch was the second witness called. He stated that he lived with his father on a farm in Oak Lawn township. With reference to the accident, he said that he was sitting in his automobile some distance west and north of the Wendt car. The time, he testified, was about 4:55 p. m. He saw the Wendt car start toward the railroad crossing and saw the engine within six feet of the crossing.

Lawrence said that he called to Mr. Wendt and that the latter's son, Albert Wendt, jumped from the running board of the Ford, just as the engine struck the car. The Ford, he testified, was pushed ahead of the engine about 50 feet, then it started to break up but slid along still further before going partially under the front end of the engine.

Found Father and Wendt Dead

He stated that he ran at once to the scene of the wreck and found both his father and Mr. Wendt dead. Foreman Wm. Hogan of the switch crew, arrived on the scene at about the same time. The men on the engine also went forward. He believed that the engine was traveling about twelve miles per hour. He said that only himself, his brother McNeal, Albert Wendt and Mr. Allison witnessed the accident, in addition to the train crew.

McNeal McCulloch Testifies

McNeal McCulloch, fire truck driver, and son of George S. McCulloch, was the next witness. He stated that he was in a stock car at the stock yards, assisting his father and Mr. Wendt in the loading of the stock. At the time of the collision, he stated that he was building a partition in the stock car, so that hogs might be loaded in one end of it, and that he had his back to the scene of the accident.

He heard the others yelling, he said, and turned to the door of the stock car just as the Ford was struck by the switch engine. The Ford, he testified, was pushed ahead of the engine along the rails 45 or 50 feet, then one of the wheels broke, letting the car down and it crumpled. Up to this point, said McNeal, the occupants of the car were all right, neither one, in his estimation, being hurt. As the car crumpled, the men rolled out on the track, and were crushed as the Ford passed over them. He stated that he ran to the scene and tried to pull his father out from under the car, which was partially under the front end of the engine. He said that the engine ran ahead 5 or 8 feet after the Ford went under it.

Albert Beaumont, Engineer

Albert Beaumont, engineer of the switch engine, was next called, and testified that he was operating the engine, No. 1639, at the time of the accident. He said that he first saw the Ford after it was struck by the engine, since he was on the opposite side of the cab from the direction in which the automobile was coming. He said that his engine was traveling about six miles per hour. He testified that the bell on the engine had been ringing, but stopped just as the engine came to the crossing on which the collision occurred.

Mr. Beaumont stated that the first he knew of any trouble was when his fireman called to him, "Stop her, AL." He said that he then reversed the engine and applied the brakes. The engine only ran about its length before it came to a stop, he said. He said that he was pulling five cars behind the engine.

He saw the Ford slide a few feet, he said, and then it turned over. He saw one man in the car, who tried to get out, but failed. His crew, he said, consisted of himself as engineer, E. C. Elling, fireman, Wm. Hogan, foreman, and Wm. Coyne and Howard Dougherty, switchmen.

Edward C. Elling, Fireman

Edward C. Elling, fireman, was then called on the stand. He stated that he first saw the Ford as it came from behind the warehouse. Elling said that he was sitting on the fireman's side of the engine, ringing the bell, but stopped ringing it in his excitement and called to the engineer to stop. He then turned his head away, when he saw there would be a collision. He said that he saw two men in the Ford and one on the running board of the car. He felt the brakes of the engine take hold as the engineer set them and noticed the man on his side of the Ford attempt to get out but failed. He said that he then left his seat in the cab of the engine so that he would not see the balance of the accident. He stated that his engine was pulling four cars.

Testimony of Wm. Hogan

Wm. Hogan, foreman of the switch crew, was then called. He said that the accident occurred about five o'clock. He said that he was riding on the foot board with Wm. Coyne on the front of the engine and first saw the Ford as it came from behind the warehouse toward the railroad crossing.

He said that he yelled for the engineer to stop and then jumped to save his own life. He testified that he believed the Ford in the Ford heard him yell. He said that he saw the collision, that the drawbar on the front of the engine struck the Ford about where the front seat is. The car, he said, was pushed ahead of the engine to the second crossing some fifty feet east, finally tipping over on its side and sliding ahead a short distance farther. The occupants were caught in the wreckage of the car, he said. The wheels of the engine did not pass over the bodies or over any part of the Ford, according to his testimony.

Mr. Hogan testified that the engine was not traveling more than 7 or 8 miles per hour. He did not remember whether the bell was ringing or not, he recalled that it was ringing at the Eighth street crossing a few minutes before. The engine was pulling four cars, he stated, two loaded box cars, and two empty tank cars.

Howard Dougherty Testifies

Howard Dougherty was next called and said that the first he saw of the accident was several minutes after it happened. He did not hear the warnings as he was on another string of box cars some 75 feet away. He first saw that there was trouble from the top of one of these cars and hurried to the scene where he saw the dead bodies. He did not recall whether the engine bell rang or not.

Albert Wendt's Story

Albert Wendt, son of Otto Wendt, was called and testified that he was with his father and witnessed the tragedy. His father and Mr. McCulloch were loading a car of sheep, he said, and then started for the freight office. They were in Mr. Wendt's Ford and Albert was riding on the running board on the right side of the car. The car, he said, had been parked just west of the stockyards scales. Mr. Wendt, Sr., started the car and drove it, with Mr. McCulloch sitting beside him. It was about five o'clock. He heard the men yell and noticed the engine close to the crossing when he jumped to save his own life. He said that he turned his head to avoid seeing the accident and did not look that way until the engine had stopped. He did not hear the bell ring, or any other sound from the engine. He saw no one on the foot boards on the front of the engine.

Wm. Coyne Last Witness

Wm. Coyne was the last witness called. He testified that he was riding on the foot boards on the front of the switch engine with Wm. Hogan and first saw the Ford about the time it came onto the track, the engine he said was about six feet away. Hogan jumped first, and Coyne followed the latter barely missing being caught in the collision, he said. They called to the engineer, also. He saw two men in the Ford car, but no one on the running board. The engine, he testified, was traveling 6 or 7 miles per hour. He did not recall whether the bell was ringing, or not. It was the custom, he said, to ring the bell for these crossings.

Mr. Coyne stated that just as he jumped the drawbar of the engine caught the Ford just behind its front doors. The car was pushed along ahead and then tipped over on its side and rolled still further ahead. The bodies of the occupants, he said, went underneath the wreckage. The engineer was given the signal and backed up a little, then the Ford seemed to fall away or settle down. He stated that he believed the brakes on the engine were working, as they had been just a few minutes previous to the accident.

Report on What This Section Did at St. Paul Convention Held

(Contributed)

In giving the report of the L. A. A. O. H. convention the report of the insurance section was inadvertently omitted owing to the fact that the writer was not in possession of the facts concerning the same. While the social activities and installation ceremonies are held in common, all of the business is carried on in separate conventions.

Mrs. Margaret Larkin, the efficient insurance secretary of Division No. 1 Crow Wing county was the insurance delegate. She was appointed on the credentials committee and reports 73 delegates seated therein. The insurance was reported in excellent standing.

The state insurance secretary, Margaret Grady, received a rising vote of approbation for the prompt payment of death claims for the past two years.

Rates were not charged, but the matter was put into the hands of an interim committee for investigation to report at the next biennial convention. The insurance rates in this order are very reasonable but owing to the efficient management of its officials from an economical standpoint have not needed to be increased.

BRAINERD MEN IN TACOMA SHOPS

Tacoma Sunday Ledger of September 16 Carries Illustrated Article on N. P. Shops

VAST ARMY—TACOMA WORKERS

Special Reference Made to Supt. H. A. Lyddon and H. M. Curry, General Mechanical Supt.

The Sunday, Sept. 16, issue of the Tacoma Ledger carries an illustrated article on the Northern Pacific railway shops in that city. The article says in part:

"Riveting guns rattle, giant trip-hammers pound, derricks protest, saws rip through lumber, paint swishes from brush and paint gun to wood and steel; hammers strike, bells ring, engines puff."

"Giant locomotives are dismantled and rebuilt, worn passenger coaches renewed, freight and refrigerator cars transformed from derelicts into new equipment."

"The human element sticks out everywhere. Almost without exception every major and minor department head witnessed 'his' transcontinental transportation system grow from the time it was a stub railroad in the days of fighting Indians and roving buffalo until it became one of the most important railroads in America."

Shop Superintendent H. A. Lyddon
"Shop Superintendent H. A. Lyddon, now in England, is an example. Forty years ago he was a mechanic's apprentice in England. The lure of America seized him. He came to the land of promise, and obtained a position as mechanic with the Northern Pacific, then a little road running a few miles out of St. Paul, Minn. Since that time he has worked his way from the ranks to one of the two most important subordinate mechanical positions on one of America's greatest transportation systems."

H. M. Curry
"General Locomotive Foreman John Metzger pointed out a minute, obsolete locomotive, No. 680—little more, it seems, than a boiler on wheels. No. 680, he says, was the engine of H. M. Curry, now general mechanical superintendent. Curry, who holds one of the biggest mechanical positions in America, 45 years ago was an apprentice. Ambitious, capable, he became a mechanic, then a fireman and in 1883 was made the proud pilot of one of the first engines purchased by the Northern Pacific. His run was between St. Paul and Brainerd, Minn., a distance of 140 miles."

"Since then Curry has been promoted to road foreman, then master mechanic, general master mechanic, mechanical superintendent and now to general mechanical superintendent. Through the years he has insisted that his '680' be saved from the scrap heap. His every visit to Tacoma is marked with a little visit and 'talk' with 'old-680' as she rests on the rails beside the shops."

A paragraph devoted to the store department mentions H. W. Kitchen, also formerly of Brainerd, who is Reclaiming Plant Foreman.

TWO KILLED ON RAILWAY CROSSING

the shops. Mr. Allison stated that he had just come from the shops and had stopped at the stockyards to talk to Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Wendt. He testified that they were loading a car of sheep and were in a hurry to get down to the freight office and bill out the car before the office closed at five o'clock.

He stated that he went north a short distance to talk to Lawrence McCulloch, who was sitting in his automobile, and George McCulloch and Otto Wendt got into the latter's Ford and started for downtown. Mr. Allison said that he had his back to the railroad track, but that Lawrence McCulloch yelled to his father, nad Allison then turned around as the switch engine was within six feet of the crossing over which the automobile was going.

Car Slid 50 Feet

Mr. Allison said that he saw the engine hit the Ford, about in the middle of the car and slid it about fifty feet before the Ford tipped over and crumpled. He did not see the men thrown out of the car, but saw them lying on the track as he ran by them to go to the livery barn near by to telephone for help. Both bodies, he said, were badly mutilated.

Lawrence McCulloch's Statement

Lawrence McCulloch was the second witness called. He stated that he lived with his father on a farm in Oak Lawn township. With reference to the accident, he said that he was sitting in his automobile some distance west and north of the Wendt car. The time, he testified, was about 4:55 p. m. He saw the Wendt car start toward the railroad crossing and saw the engine within six feet of the crossing.

Lawrence said that he called to Mr. Wendt and that the latter's son, Albert Wendt, jumped from the running board of the Ford, just as the engine struck the car. The Ford, he testified, was pushed ahead of the engine about 50 feet, then it started to break up but slid along still further before going partially under the front end of the engine.

Found Father and Wendt Dead

He stated that he ran at once to the scene of the wreck and found both his father and Mr. Wendt dead. Foreman Wm. Hogan of the switch crew, arrived on the scene at about the same time. The men on the engine also went forward. He believed that the engine was traveling about twelve miles per hour. He said that only himself, his brother McNeal, Albert Wendt and Mr. Allison witnessed the accident, in addition to the train crew.

McNeal McCulloch Testifies

McNeal McCulloch, fire truck driver, and son of George S. McCulloch, was the next witness. He stated that he was in a stock car at the stock yards, assisting his father and Mr. Wendt in the loading of the stock. At the time of the collision, he stated that he was building a partition in the stock car, so that hogs might be loaded in one end of it, and that he had his back to the scene of the accident.

He heard the others yelling, he said, and turned to the door of the stock car just as the Ford was struck by the switch engine. The Ford, he testified, was pushed ahead of the engine along the rails 45 or 50 feet, then one of the wheels broke, letting the car down and it crumpled. Up to this point, said McNeal, the occupants of the car were all right, neither one, in his estimation, being hurt. As the car crumpled, the men rolled out on the track, and were crushed as the Ford passed over them. He stated that he ran to the scene and tried to pull his father out from under the car, which was partially under the front end of the engine. He said that the engine ran ahead 6 or 8 feet after the Ford went under it.

Albert Beaumont, Engineer

Albert Beaumont, engineer of the switch engine, was next called, and testified that he was operating the engine, No. 1030, at the time of the accident. He said that he first saw the Ford after it was struck by the engine, since he was on the opposite side of the cab from the direction in which the automobile was coming. He said that his engine was traveling about six miles per hour. He testified that the bell on the engine had been ringing, but stopped just as the engine came to the crossing on which the collision occurred.

Mr. Beaumont stated that the first he knew of any trouble was when his fireman called to him, "Stop her, Al." He said that he then reversed the engine and applied the brakes. The engine only ran about its length before it came to a stop, he said. He said that he was pulling five cars behind the engine.

He saw the Ford slide a few feet, he said, and then it turned over. He saw one man in the car, who tried to get out, but failed. His crew, he said, consisted of himself as engineer, E. C. Elling, fireman, Wm. Hogan, foreman, and Wm. Coyne and Howard Dougherty, switchmen.

Edward C. Elling, Fireman

Edward C. Elling, fireman, was then called on the stand. He stated that he first saw the Ford as it came from behind the warehouse. Elling said that he was sitting on the fireman's side of the engine, ringing the bell, but stopped ringing it in his excitement and called to the engineer to stop. He then turned his head away, when he saw there would be a collision. He said that he saw two men in the Ford and one on the running board of the car. He felt the brakes of the engine take hold as the engineer set them and noticed the man on his side of the Ford attempt to get out but failed. He said that he then left his seat in the cab of the engine so that he would not see the balance of the accident. He stated that his engine was pulling four cars.

Testimony of Wm. Hogan

Wm. Hogan, foreman of the switch crew, was then called. He said that the accident occurred about five o'clock. He said that he was riding on the foot board with Wm. Coyne on the front of the engine and first saw the Ford as it came from behind the warehouse toward the railroad crossing.

He said that he yelled for the engineer to stop and then jumped to save his own life. He testified that he believed the men in the Ford heard him yell. He said that he saw the collision, that the drawbar on the front of the engine struck the Ford about where the front seat is. The car, he said, was pushed ahead of the engine to the second crossing some fifty feet east, finally tipping over on its side and sliding ahead a short distance farther. The occupants were caught in the wreckage of the car, he said. The wheels of the engine did not pass over the bodies or over any part of the Ford, according to his testimony.

Mr. Hogan testified that the engine was not traveling more than 7 or 8 miles per hour. He did not remember whether the bell was ringing or not, he recalled that it was ringing at the eighth street crossing a few minutes before. The engine was pulling four cars, he stated, two loaded box cars, and two empty tank cars.

Howard Dougherty Testifies

Howard Dougherty was next called and said that the first he saw of the accident was several minutes after it happened. He did not hear the warnings as he was on another string of box cars some 75 feet away. He first saw that there was trouble from the top of one of these cars and hurried to the scene where he saw the dead bodies. He did not recall whether the engine bell rang or not.

Albert Wendt's Story

Albert Wendt, son of Otto Wendt, was called and testified that he was with his father and witnessed the tragedy. His father and Mr. McCulloch were loading a car of sheep, he said, and then started for the freight office. They were in Mr. Wendt's Ford and Albert was riding on the running board on the right side of the car. The car, he said, had been parked just west of the stockyard scales. Mr. Wendt, Sr., started the car and drove it, with Mr. McCulloch sitting beside him. It was about five o'clock. He heard the men yell and noticed the engine close to the crossing when he jumped to save his own life. He said that he turned his head to avoid seeing the accident and did not look that way until the engine had stopped. He did not hear the bell ring, or any other sound from the engine. He saw no one on the foot boards on the front of the engine.

Wm. Coyne Last Witness

Wm. Coyne was the last witness called. He testified that he was riding on the foot boards on the front of the switch engine with Wm. Hogan and first saw the Ford about the time it came onto the track, the engine he said was about six feet away. Hogan jumped first, and Coyne followed the latter barely missing being caught in the collision, he said. They called to the engineer, also. He saw two men in the Ford car, but no one on the running board. The engine, he testified, was traveling 6 or 7 miles per hour. He did not recall whether the bell was rung, or not. It was the custom, he said, to ring the bell for these crossings.

Mr. Coyne stated that just as he jumped the drawbar of the engine caught the Ford just behind its front doors. The car was pushed along ahead and then tipped over on its side and rolled still further ahead. The bodies of the occupants, he said, went underneath the wreckage. The engineer was given the signal and backed up a little, then the Ford seemed to fall away or settle down. He stated that he believed the brakes on the engine were working, as they had been just a few minutes previous to the accident.

WILLS NOW ON DEMPSEY BLACKLIST

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 25.—When the court decided that Harry Wills had no legal rights to force his way into a contest for the world's heavyweight championship with Jack Dempsey he lost what little chance he had remaining for the title.

Wills may be held up as a martyr, in that circumstances seemed to militate against his chances to win the championship and a fortune, but when the facts are considered dispassionately, the big colored fighter has no one to blame but himself.

He had many supporters up to the time he sought to prevent the Dempsey-Firpo fight at a time when all the arrangements had been completed and when Tex Rickard had spent more than $50,000 in preliminary arrangements. It placed him in the position of a bad sport and it cost him a lot of public sympathy.

Had Wills been that aggressive in forcing the issue a year or two ago he would have had a crack at Dempsey before Firpo and he would have had a better chance to win the championship two years ago, because it is known that he has slipped considerably in the last year. It is only natural that he could not retain whatever form he possessed without fighting.

Firpo worked himself into a bout for the title by building himself up on a lot of fights. He wanted a crack at the championship and he submitted to the process of being built up to the position of the logical contender by fighting everyone he was asked to meet.

Wills would have had the bout a long time ago if he had agreed or been willing to do the same thing. When he started out to build himself up, he made himself look bad, especially in the bout with Clem Johnson, and he apparently decided then that he had only one shot in him and that was good for a losing end with Dempsey.

He was offered $10,000 to meet George Godfrey in one of the bouts on the Milk Fund show, where Firpo and Jess Willard appeared, but he turned down the offer, saying that he was too good to appear in anything that looked like a preliminary.

Firpo might have considered himself as being better than a preliminary fighter, but he had business sense enough to see the opportunity of making such a good showing that the fans would consider him the best of the lot on the card.

Wills could have gone on in a preliminary and he might have made such a fine showing that the crowd would have given the verdict that Willard and Firpo were both hams and that Wills was the real contender for the title.

The colored fighter would have been asked to meet Firpo, but it is almost sure that he would have refused.

Floyd Johnson, the young Iowa heavyweight, was willing to fight Wills, and several promoters were willing to offer a fancy purse, but Wills would not consider the fight.

While other contenders were fighting around and trying to force themselves into a title bout, Wills sat back and wept that he was being given a raw deal, but he made no move to help himself and in the boxing game there are few helping hands extended for anyone.

Three Records Set in National Rifle Meet

Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Rifle men participating in the National Rifle association meet here continue to establish new world's records, three having been broken recently.

In scoring a total of 7,748 out of a possible 8,000, the United States small bore rifle team, shooting in the Dewar international match, broke the former record of 7,735, established by the United States team in 1921.

The United States team was leading in this match, Great Britain was second with a score of 7,672. The Canadian team will shoot Sunday, the other international teams reporting their scores later.

Another world's record was made when the United States Palma team, in shooting the international match course, scored 1,772 over the 800, 900 and 1,000 yard ranges.

The eight men shooting on the team had no opposition, as no other teams were entered. Lieutenant G. W. Trichel, coast artillery corps, Ft. Monroe, Va., was high man on the team with a perfect score of 225.

The national pistol team match was won by the United States infantry team of five men, with a score of 1,313 out of a possible 1,500. The second U. S. Marines were second with 1,309, and the first United States Marines, third, with 1,300.

George Volk, Toledo civilian, led 75 participants in the registered shotgun match. He landed 148 birds out of a possible 150. C. W. Jump of Willard, Ohio, was second, with 147, and C. A. Bogert, Sandusky, and F. E. Brunt, Toledo, were tied for third place with 146.

Guilford Sets Record For Cleveland Course

Cleveland, Sept. 25.—Jess Guilford, Boston, established a new amateur record for the Westwood course here when he turned in a card of 72. His most spectacular shot was made on the 317 yard third hole, where he made an eagle two. Guilford stopped off here while en route to his home from the national amateur golf tournament at Chicago.

FIRST GAME OF WORLD'S SERIES NEW YORK OCT. 10

(By United Press)

New York, Sept. 25.—The first game of the 1923 World Series between the New York Yankees and the winners of the National League pennant will be played in New York on Wednesday, October 10.

Details of the conduct of the series were announced this afternoon by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, after a conference with officers of the National and American leagues.

The series will open at New York at the Yankee stadium and if the Cincinnati Reds should win the National League pennant the second game will be played at the Polo Grounds.

The Yankees will be regarded as the home team in games numbers 1, 3 and 5. The Giants will be the home team in games 2, 4 and 6.

If the Cincinnati Reds should win the pennant the first two games will be played in New York and the next two games in Cincinnati.

It would be decided later where the remaining games of the New York-Cincinnati series would be played if they are necessary.

Price of admission will remain the same as last year if the series is played in New York.

Box seats will cost $6, reserved seats $5 unreserved seats of the upper and lower stands $3 and the bleachers $1. All games will start at 2 o'clock of the time prevailing in the city in which the games are played.

If Cincinnati wins the National League pennant prices for games in Cincinnati will be decided upon later.

WILLS NOW ON DEMPSEY BLACKLIST

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Sept. 25.—When the court decided that Harry Wills had no legal rights to force his way into a contest for the world's heavyweight championship with Jack Dempsey he lost what little chance he had remaining for the title.

Wills may be held up as a martyr, in that circumstances seemed to militate against his chances to win the championship and a fortune, but when the facts are considered dispassionately, the big colored fighter has no one to blame but himself.

He had many supporters up to the time he sought to prevent the Dempsey-Firpo fight at a time when all the arrangements had been completed and when Tex Rickard had spent more than $50,000 in preliminary arrangements. It placed him in the position of a bad sport and it cost him a lot of public sympathy.

Had Wills been that aggressive in forcing the issue a year or two ago he would have had a crack at Dempsey before Firpo and he would have had a better chance to win the championship two years ago, because it is known that he has slipped considerably in the last year. It is only natural that he could not retain whatever form he possessed without fighting.

Firpo worked himself into a bout for the title by building himself up on a lot of fights. He wanted a crack at the championship and he submitted to the process of being built up to the position of the logical contender by fighting everyone he was asked to meet.

Wills would have had the bout a long time ago if he had agreed or been willing to do the same thing. When he started out to build himself up, he made himself look bad, especially in the bout with Clem Johnson, and he apparently decided then that he had only one shot in him and that was good for a losing end with Dempsey.

He was offered $10,000 to meet George Godfrey in one of the bouts on the Milk Fund show, where Firpo and Jess Willard appeared, but he turned down the offer, saying that he was too good to appear in anything that looked like a preliminary.

Firpo might have considered himself as being better than a preliminary fighter, but he had business sense enough to see the opportunity of making such a good showing that the fans would consider him the best of the lot on the card.

Wills could have gone on in a preliminary and he might have made such a fine showing that the crowd would have given the verdict that Willard and Firpo were both hams and that Wills was the real contender for the title.

The colored fighter would have been asked to meet Firpo, but it is almost sure that he would have refused.

Floyd Johnson, the young Iowa heavyweight, was willing to fight Wills, and several promoters were willing to offer a fancy purse, but Wills would not consider the fight.

While other contenders were fighting around and trying to force themselves into a title bout, Wills sat back and wept that he was being given a raw deal, but he made no move to help himself and in the boxing game there are few helping hands extended for anyone.

Three Records Set in National Rifle Meet

Camp Perry, Ohio, Sept. 25.—Rifle men participating in the National Rifle association meet here continue to establish new world's records, three having been broken recently.

In scoring a total of 7,748 out of a possible 8,000, the United States small bore rifle team, shooting in the Dewar international match, broke the former record of 7,735, established by the United States team in 1921.

The United States team was leading in this match, Great Britain was second with a score of 7,672. The Canadian team will shoot Sunday, the other international teams reporting their scores later.

Another world's record was made when the United States Palma team, in shooting the international match course, scored 1,772 over the 800, 900 and 1,000 yard ranges.

The eight men shooting on the team had no opposition, as no other teams were entered. Lieutenant G. W. Trichel, coast artillery corps, Ft. Monroe, Va., was high man on the team with a perfect score of 225.

The national pistol team match was won by the United States infantry team of five men, with a score of 1,313 out of a possible 1,500. The second U. S. Marines were second with 1,309, and the first United States Marines, third, with 1,300.

George Volk, Toledo civilian, led 75 participants in the registered shotgun match. He landed 148 birds out of a possible 150. C. W. Jump of Willard, Ohio, was second, with 147, and C. A. Bogert, Sandusky, and F. E. Brunt, Toledo, were tied for third place with 146.
